Laurentian Bank enters next chapter in cloud transformation journey with support from Kyndryl

MONTRÉAL, Aug. 29, 2022 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Laurentian Bank of Canada (TSX: LB) (the “Bank”) and Kyndryl (NYSE: KD), the world’s largest IT infrastructure services provider, today announced the availability of a new cloud landing zone for the Bank leveraging cloud platforms such as Microsoft Azure. Laurentian Bank now benefits from a strong and proven foundation to deploy its next-generation hybrid multicloud environment, allowing the Bank to deliver engaging customer experiences and innovative digital capabilities.

This new environment, executed through the Bank’s strategic collaboration with Kyndryl, ultimately enables its digital services to function efficiently and securely, so customers can enjoy an optimal and seamless experience at all interaction touchpoints. It also allows the Bank to accelerate the introduction of its digital onboarding solution and deliver on its reimagined and more customer-centric VISA experience.

Kyndryl’s expertise in integrating across vendors was central to the Bank’s progress in its cloud transformation journey. Kyndryl has a deep understanding of mission-critical systems, including many years of managed services support to the Bank, bringing innovation and differentiated capabilities tailored to the Bank’s needs. Additionally, Kyndryl has the unique flexibility to tap into a broad set of technologies and skills, including its own global strategic alliances, along with Microsoft Azure to support the Bank’s specific transformation goals to deliver more efficient and improved services to customers.
